Background & Experience

Over the course of her over fifteen-year career in the financial services industry, Laura MacInnis has consistently proven her value as a hardworking, motivated individual who is determined to help advisors grow their revenue, profitability, and value. After graduating from George Mason University's business school with a Bachelor of Sciences in Finance in 2005, she began her career at Wachovia Bank as a licensed financial specialist. After shifting her career path from banking to insurance in 2007, she has since worked for multiple financial institutions, including The Hartford and Penn Mutual. Laura specializes in all areas of insurance planning, with a particular and personal connection to long-term care planning; she has acted as her grandmother's power of attorney for the past seven years. Her extensive proficiency allows her to make the insurance process streamlined for both the advisor and their clients.

Laura lives in Houston, Texas with her two dogs, Chloe, and Kaia. In her free time, she enjoys snowboarding, biking, fishing, clay shooting, and brunching.
